

History of Protest at the Supreme Court

The Polish Camp Site for Justice, in front of the Supreme Court, in Warsaw, was founded in August 2016 on the initiative of anti-Communist and pro-social milieus: Confederation of Independent Poland – Unforgettable (KPN-NIEZŁOMNI), Electoral Control Movement (Ruch Kontroli Wyborów), Solidarity Association 2010 (Solidarni 2010), organizations fighting for the rights of the child to both parents, Rifle Association "Strzelec", associations of defense of people harmed by courts, which created a federation of civil judicial review. The coordinator of the protest is Adam Słomka - former political prisoner of the People's Republic of Poland (PRL) and former MP.

The protest was broadcast by Ewa Stankiewicz on TV Republic (Telewizja Republika). The Camp Site is supported by: the legends of the anti-communist opposition: the counselor of the Polish president - Zofia Romaszewska and the senior speaker of the Sejm - Kornel Morawiecki and professors: MP Józef Brynkus, MP Jacek Kurzępa, Artur H. Świergiel and PhD Tadeusz Płużański.

For years, we have been involved, as observers, in court proceedings whenever there is a suspicion of unfair treatment of parties, such as those injured by corporations or fathers claiming their children's rights to both parents.

The Camp Site in front of the Supreme Court came into existence for the reason that for the past 28 years, in democratic Poland, criminals remain unpunished, as well as the courts \ still being corrupted, in the administration of justice.

This system preserves the active working of numerous judges and prosecutors who previously served the totalitarian power of Moscow and persecuted Polish citizens.

The spark that brought the protest to life was the 10-month prison sentence of a veteran of the anti-communist opposition, Zygmunt Miernik, for symbolic opposition to the judicial protection of totalitarian criminals and authors of martial law. The patriot Zygmunt Miernik was deprived of liberty for throwing a cake at the judges, protecting the leaders of the military hunt, i.e. communist generals Jaruzelski and Kiszczak, who in 1981 on the order of the Kremlin to suppress the Poles for independence.

The Polish Camp Site for justice has adopted the name "Arrest Michnik - Free Miernik", because instead of punishing criminals like Stefan Michnik, who issued 14 death sentences for Home Army (AK) soldiers, patriots like Zygmunt Miernik and Adam Słomka and journalists Mariusz Cysewski and Józef Wieczorek (sentenced for public disclosure) are being deprived of liberty and persecuted.

The scale of the pathology of the judiciary system is illustrated by numerous absurd decisions regarding imprisonment of the coordinator of the protest Adam Słomka, who spent almost 20 days in jail on the pretext of wearing a Soviet officer's cap and insulting the Soviet occupation memorial in 2017.

The protest Camp Site gathers numerous people of diverse backgrounds and situations, dramatically harmed in various ways by degenerated judicial officers.

There is massive:

- Robbery reprivatization of estates;
- Destruction of Polish economic activity;
- The courts use psychiatric research to deprive civilians of rights after the model of „psychuszka” used in the USSR.

The POSTULATES of the Camp Site for Justice are:

- Restoration of juries (known from the Second Polish Republic since 1928 and operating in the USA);
- The introduction of a European standard for fair court proceedings (e.g. meetings and recording of processes);
- Choice of presidents of courts and prosecutors
- Reliable and transparent election
- Prosecution of criminals (SB PRL / Security Service of the People's Republic of Poland/, judges and prosecutors who persecuted Polish patriots, etc.)

Without the restoration of European standards, the credibility and effectiveness of the Polish judiciary cannot be regained.
